us out of our propriety. As I have said, that road will be built-but not to Portuge City. It will pass by Watertown and Columbus to Stevens Point, and thence the Lord knows where. Chicago will have another and by Below and Madison to Portage City, and thence somewhere, purhaps LaCrosse, St. Croix. Staver a Point and Lake Superior. The latter is their present plan. Now the way for Milwaukes to combat these, is to atrengthen the hands of the Horicon road, and get it to Stavens Point as o in as possible, to forestall both of these Chicago toads siming at that point. The same of the LaCrosse road, that it may reach Portage City in time to head off the Railroad there. The same of the Watertown road in its extension to-

In my rejoinder to his first article, I made of personal allusion to him, and I think it would have shown good tasts in him to have omitted his silveion to my "billions condition this spring" and also his withy advice, and confined himself to the subject which he sime to discuss. If these struggles are to be renewed, let the agitation. In moving in this matter, "Wisconsin" is only following in the footsteps of his employers—and though he attempts to disavow their participation in his acts, yet clearly proved by the whole teno of both his articles, that what I charged on them in times past, is true of their prosent policy as announced through him as their mouth piece. I do not doubt but he is, as he proceded at a salew pase through responsibility as announced through him as their mouth piece. of policy at this time, and probably has not written his articles at their bidding; but this does not prove that there is not a unity of sentiment between them, nor that they have abated a jot or title of their former hostility to the LaCrosse road.

What is it that "Wisconsin" proposes? Why simply, that the LaCrosse Company shall abaned to the Watertown Company; and after submitting to that aggression, to commit a similar one on the Horison Company; and after submitting to that aggression, to commit a similar one on the Horison Company, by demanding that they surrender to the LaCrosse Company their route to Lake Superior. This is modest in the extreme I and a very happy device for producing Aarmony among the nivocates and supporters of those measures. I think a less capa-interest and a very apply device for producing Aurmony among the invocates and supporters of those measures. I think a less capalized of those measures. I think a less capalized that the first of "Wisconsin's" would hardly have been expable of conceiving so notable a scheme for producing harmony. This is but a proposal to renew the old controversy, which I was in kepes that the better sense of even the Watertown Company would suffer to go to rest. Why will they not be satisfied with what is reasonable, and not seek to grasp nil?

In my ruply to "Wisconsin." I stated that the Watertown Company was organized by persons hostile to the LaCrosse road, and that they made an attempt to break it down, and that must would be given if nocessary—and I here repeat that the most strenuous efforts of the repeat that the most strenuous efforts of wisconsin. And I forther say, that the movers of that early warfare, have not ceased their efforts to this day, though they

The ends they aim at are impossible. The La Crosse Company could not change the route of their road if even they were so disposed. The greater portion of the stock of this Company is the legends, "Balkhava," "Alms," "In the stock of this Company is it is proposed we abandon our line. If the city of Milwauke were disposed to advera such a violation of faith, would the country sphmit to it? Would in not arouse a hostility public to our best interests? It seems to me that it does not require a very profound intellect to see the difficulty, say the impossibility of such a messence and the sooner it is abandoned by "Wiscoosi" and his employers, the better it will be for all interests concerned. The flotten Company would not surrender one to the Watertown Company if we desired—and we could not surrender due to use it was desired—and we could not surrender due to so. published an article in which he avows the following noble sentiments:

With regard to leaving this community, I would do so cheerfully, as soon as I could dispose of my interests here, were I satisfied that a further reactione was not agreeable, but to leave the grave of my wife, the home I have toded years to embellish and improve, and many interests interwoven with the growth and prosperity of the country, and flee for no offence, like a culprit—I cannot. I would rather prifer death at my own home, smid the flowers and trees planted and consecrated by affection, and upon the soil of the country I have tooled to build up. Our press has been thrown into the Missouri river—I may be buried there toe—and a humble todividual is in the power of hundreds of armed men—but his death will not destroy the freedom of the American Press! Independence of thought and action is inherent in the bosom of every freeman, and it will gush up like a perpetual foutainn forever! God has impressed on his universe the principles of truth and justice, and they must prevail.

If there is no security in the land of Washington—if an American home affords no protection—if the time has arrived when this Union must be dissolved, and all its kindred ties and mighty interests broken and destroyed, and our land drenched with fraternal blood, then let me be buried hencath the turbid waters of the Missouri rather than live to behold such a scene God save our country!

Wednesday, took from the Episcopal Oburch of this city one of its most exemplary clergymen, pinnaged a loving family into the deepest grief, and filled the hearts of a wide circle of relatives and friends with the most painful sorrow. The Rev. Charles H. Halsay, Rector of Christ. Church in Eighteenth at., yesterday visited the new building on Union Square. The reason of his visit was that the eraction of a parsonage for his Caurch was contemplated, and he wished to inspect the workmanship of the new building un Union Square. While standing on the fourth floor of the edifice, looking through the opening of the large central window, which as yet is without eaches, and with its still neusually near the floor, he has this balance, and fell through to the ground, a distance of some sixty feet. Mesias. Editories:—I see by the S stinel of to-day, that," Wisconsia," with his provolvial pugnarity, is still in the field. The gentleman writing down articles, and the influence under which he writes, are of course well known to me, as endoubtedly I am to him, and both of us to all rescents here acquainted with the subject treated. In my rejoinder to his first article, I made of personal allusion to him, and I think it would have shown good tasts in him to have omitted his allusion to my "billious condition this spring" and also his writy advice, and confined himself to the subject which he aims to discuss. He will find however, that I am billious enough at all times spring or fall, to resist aggression and maintain the right. I have not commenced this discussion and will not continue it longer than I am competited to; but I do not feel at liberty to witness without remonstrance, any attempt to witness without remonstrance, any attempt to by "Wisconsin," to crowd out the La-Grossu road from its original route, and substitute the Watertown road in its stead, would be such a subversion, and the attempt to do it will conters of those measures. I think a less copaandly have been capable of conceiving so notable scheme for producing harmony. This is but a reposal to renew the old controversy, which I was in kopes that the better sense of even the Vatortown Company would suffer to go to rest. Why will they not be satisfied with what is resonable, and not seek to grasp all?

In my roply to "Wisconsin," I stated that the Watertown Company was organized by persons postule to the LaCrosse road, and that they made an attempt to break it down, and that names would be given if nocessary-and I here repeat that the most strenuous efforts were made for that purpose, both in the city and in the country, but ignally failed,as will the present efforts of "Wisonem" in that same direction. And I further say, that the movers of that early warfare, have not consed their efforts to this day, though they have changed the acene of their operations, and node of attack. Instead of acting openly in Milwaukee and the country, they are operating secretly in Wall street, and wherever they can do the LaCrosse Company an injury. Public scutidiese to the Emperor, the Empress arose and holders to the amount of half a millton of delities, and deprive them of all railroad facilities. Would such an act be just, even if practicable? If the city of Milwaukee were disposed to adverse was in the following terms: "My Lord Mayor: After the cordial reception I have experienced from the Queen nothing over such a violation of faith, would the country submit to it? Would it not arouse a hostility in the country ngainest the city, highly prejudicial to our best interests? It seems to me that it does not require a very prefound imelect to see the difficulty, nay the impossibility, of such a measure, and the source it is abandoned by "Wisconsin" and his employers. The better it will be for all interests concerned. The Holicon Cumpany would not surrender their routs to us if we desired—and we could not surren point on the whole circuit of the lakes.

y"Wieconsin" to terrify Milwaukee into the doption of his plan, is all moonshine, and comes too late in the day. That road will undoubtedly be built, and we owe it to Milwaukee men that it will be built-and to those very men who were most active against the LaCrosse road, one of who was a member of the Legislature, advocated us principal supporter and means of its passage. That measure would certainly have been defeated had that member opposed it, as it was near

On Tussday the Emperor did not, as had been expected, huns with the Queen's staghounds, but instead walked in the grounds and visited Queen Vetoria's model farm and dany. At 3 o'clock he received addresses from the Corporations of Windsor, the merchants and bankens of London and others, and 4 o'clock till 6 put three region into the contract of Euglish troops through their evolutions. Then the Queen gave another grand dimers and, later in the night, an evening party.

Weduesday, the 18th, the Queen conferred on the Emperor the investutive of the Garder. A grand chapter of the Order was held at Windsor, and the formalities which secompany the presentation of the piece of riband were duly gone through. The Queen buckled the garter around the Emperor's leg. and placed the riband across his shoulders. A grand dinner, evening party and concert concluded the evening.

On Thursday the Emperor sud the Empress, escorted by a detachment of the Queen's Life Guards, went to London to receive the address of the Municipality. The cortegs, of claus carriages, preseeded at rather a rapid rate along the outcoing lateets.

Indeed England and France are naturally united on all the great questions of politics and of hu nan progress that segitate the world. From the shores of the Atlantic to those of the Mediteriauono—from the Baltic to the Black Sea; from the desire to abolish Slavery to our hopes for the anniloration of all the countries of Europe—I see in the moral, as in the political world, for our two nations, but one course and one end. It is, then, only by unworthy considerations and fulfacture of the full rivalries that our union could be dissevered.—If we follow the dictates of common sense slone, we shall be sure of the future.
